

THE COMPANY

Based in Hull's stunning Centre for Digital Innovation (C4DI), Sauce are looking for an exceptional Developer to join our core team. Established at the start of 2016, we have swiftly established ourselves as a highly regarded development agency for clients such as Siemens and Ideal Boilers. We are a company of developers run by developers and due to our continued success we are looking to hire an additional developer as we expand our business.

THE ROLE

The role is full time and will involve developing a variety of api driven web/mobile apps. We are a small, dynamic team, working in various sectors creating many solutions for organisations. Your role will be to think, create and develop and you will be involved with planning projects all the way from conception to deployment, and continued support.

WHAT WE ARE LOOKING FOR

An apprentice, graduate, or a self taught professional with an understanding of current best practices and framework with a willingness and drive to keep pushing your knowledge forward.

We currently use Ember JS front ends driven by Phoenix based Elixir APIs to build our apps, so experience of either would be great, but not essential. The successful candidate should be keen to learn and work with one of or both of these frameworks.

We are looking for something like;

- 2 - 4 years experience in Web Development or new grad of a CompSci degree
- A good foundation on the basics of web development (HTML, CSS)
- Knowledge of some modern JS frontend development; e.g. EmberJS, Angular, or React.
- Experience with server side web development; Ruby, PHP, .Net or Elixir
- Developing or working with API, knowledge of JSONAPI a plus
- Basic understanding of version control (git)
- Comfortable administering servers, AWS or Google Cloud would be a bonus!

More importantly, we are interested in a developer, who is interested in learning, and who has a genuine desire to produce work of the highest quality.
